

The Lonely Croissant

By: Olivia Sienna Arias

Once there was a lonely croissant named Charlie who had nobody to play with. He asked everyone that he knew to play with him but they all said "I'm too busy" and walked away.

Then Charlie asked his parents but they said "sorry Sweetie"
we have to go to work."
So he decided to go
for a little walk.

He was walking toward the park when he saw Sara sandwich.
Charlie asked her if she would play with him but she said "No I'm so sorry but I have to pick up
my brother."

He sat on a bench
and all of a sudden he saw a girl asked her "do you want to play with me?" She said yes. He was very happy and shouted "Hooray!" He then asked "What's your name?" and she said
"Clara." He said, "So Clara let's play," she agreed and they played until it was time to go home.
Charlie was super happy when he went home because he knew he had a new friend!
The End.
