

The Lost
Shoe

By Henry Duarte-
Encina

There once was a man who lost a shoe.

He went downtown and found a kid. He asked if he had the shoe he lost.

He walked to a house
and he knocked on the door. He asked the five year old if he had his lost shoe he said no.

He walked to a store
and asked the manager if he had his shoe and he said, yes.

He said, hooray I found my lost shoe, thank
you. Now I can rest
and return back home
The end.
