Little

Girl

Once upon a time...

there lived a little girl. She was ten years old. She was a normal little girl. Little did she know, her life would become anything but normal.

One day the little girl got Sick. . . .

The little girl's mom thought she had a bad cold.

She went to the doctor
with her brother to get his allergy shot.

And the doctor noticed
she was very pale.

So the doctor decided to do special tests on her.

The tests came back with bad news. They showed that her white cells were going CRAZY!

And she had Leukemia.

Every one was so sad.

Cancer is a scary thing.

They had to go to the hospital right away. Peoria and Memphis hospitals. St. Jude

The little girl had to get radiation to her head. This made her very tired and get head aches. She had to have Chemotherapy to kill the bad cells once a week. She had to take pills every day. She did her best and went back to school and played Sports she was tough.

She cheered in seventh grade that summer. She went on a big trip to California by train to celebrate. She was brave and fought cancer. She couldn't swallow because of the sores and drugs. She also had to worry about mean kids teasing her.

But through it all, she had lots of family and friends that loved her and took care of her.
Thanks too god, she was cured.
